

America's Position Announced By Hughes

Secretary of State Issues Statement Pointing Out That United States Participated in Paris Conference to Protect Our Interests—Treaty Rights Not Surrendered by Signing Agreement.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Jan. 19.—Aroused by the tempest in the Senate over the reparations agreement signed at Paris by Secretary of State Designate Kellogg, and the charges that the United States had been "duped" here, Secretary of State Hughes broke a precedent here today by issuing an official statement concerning the agreement, in which he denied that the United States is "legally or morally" obligated to help the Allied powers collect war damages from Germany.

Mr. Hughes's statement was issued in the face of a gathering revolt on the part of the old Senate irreconcilables against the Paris agreement, and an anticipated "demand" from the Senate for full information. This demand was to have come Wednesday in the passage of the Johnson resolution.

Secretary Hughes's Statement.
The secretary of state's statement follows:

"The portion of the agreement reached at the recent conference in Paris which relates to the participation of the United States in the Dawes annuities has already been published in the newspapers. The full text of the agreement is on its way to this country and will be published as soon as received. In the meantime it may be said:

"1. The conference of finance ministers held at Paris was for the purpose of reaching an agreement as to the allocation of the payments expected through the operation of the Dawes plan. In view of the inclusive character of these payments, it was necessary for the United States to take part in the conference in order to protect its interests.

"2. The conference at Paris was not a body, agency or commission provided for either by our treaty with Germany or by the treaty of Versailles. In taking part in this conference there was no violation of the reservation attached by the Senate to the treaty of Berlin.

"3. The agreement reached at Paris was simply for the allocation of the payments made under the Dawes plan. It does not provide for sanctions or deal with any questions that might arise if the contemplated payments should not be made. With respect to any such contingencies, the agreement at Paris puts the United States under no obligation, legally or morally, and the United States will be as free as it ever was to take any course of action it may think advisable.

"The agreement at Paris neither surrenders or modifies any treaty rights of the United States."

Exercising Presidential Prerogative.
I was also denied at the state department today that the Paris agreement is a document that requires Senate ratification. Every president since Jefferson, it was stated, has exercised the prerogative of settling American damage claims without reference to the Senate, and that it was contended, was what Mr. Coolidge in this instance.

Revolts Among Republicans.
President Coolidge was far from fact today with a well defined revolt in administration ranks over the reparations agreement negotiated at Paris by his secretary of state to the Frank B. Kellogg, under which the United States becomes an official partner in the Dawes plan in exchange for 24 per cent of the money derived from Germany.

It has brought into opposition to Mr. Coolidge for the first time some of those who heretofore have been his warmest supporters and closest advisers, among them Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, chairman of the foreign relations committee, and Colonel George Harvey, ex-ambassador to Great Britain.

Harvey Quick to Criticize.
In a signed editorial under the heading "America Duped," which checked official circles and caused a commotion in the Senate, Colonel Harvey denounced the Kellogg-Kellogg pact in unmeasured terms, and concluded by stating:

"So here we are, pledged to internationalism in the midst of Europe at the instance of others, during the last half century, stalling, if not losing, in a cruel, horse kick, and we are dead."

"It is inconceivable that a man who has been President of the United States would approve an arrangement so utterly opposed to all our country's traditions, principles and practices."

Harvey is a frequent guest at the White House and a frequent guest on the Washington-Maryland trip, which have been a feature of the Coolidge administration.

Lowman Wants Party Regularity

Lieutenant Governor Thinks Republicans Would Commit Political Suicide If They Refuse to Support Prohibition and Other Measures.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Republican members of the senate who refuse to support the Republican legislative program will be committing "political suicide" in the opinion of Lieutenant Governor Seymour Lowman.

"I know it is quite the style of persons in Japan to commit suicide when things don't go the way they want them to, but I never heard of such a thing in American politics," Lowman declared today. "To be insistent or a bolter is to commit political suicide."

The lieutenant governor made this observation when told of the reports at the capitol that several of the Republican senators would refuse to support some of the bills favored by the Republican party. One of these measures is that providing for a state wide prohibition enforcement law.

Asked if he believed his charges that the financial affairs of the state fair commission were in a "mess" had been substantiated by the investigation made by Joseph H. Wilson, state research director, Lowman said:

"I certainly do."
He added:
"I understand, however, that Wilson has washed the fair commission and made it white as snow. That reminds me of the old camp meeting song, 'Whiter than Snow.'"

Wilson called on Governor Smith at the executive chamber this morning, but later the governor said they had not discussed the investigation of the fair commission.

The probe of the fair commission was ordered recently by Governor Smith following charges made by Lieutenant Governor Lowman that the financial affairs of the commission were in a mess.

Lowman said today the commission would have to ask the legislature for an appropriation of about $40,000 to "square itself with its creditors."

Wilson is expected to submit his report of the investigation to the governor this week.

Boy Hit by Auto.
Sunday afternoon Louis H. Every of 26 Prince street reported to the police that on Thursday afternoon his son, James, 8 years old, was struck by an auto driven by Ralph Ward of East Kingston. The boy sustained a broken arm and was hurt about the face. His sled was also wrecked.

This week a resolution fathered by Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican of California, calling upon the state department for a copy of the Paris agreement. The resolution will be reported out of the foreign relations committee Wednesday with an amendment by Senator Borah calling for "full information" concerning the pact, including a statement of how far the United States is committed in the collection of reparations from Germany.

The Senate "irreconcilables" want information specifically on these points:

Robber Angry at Pal Who 'Peached'

Gerald Chapman, Notorious Desperado, In Custody After Two Years' Freedom Following Escape From Federal Prison.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 19.—Nursing a swollen jaw and showing plainly the effects of his first night's sleep in nearly two years on a hard jail cot, Gerald Chapman, notorious desperado and mail robber, awoke in Marion county jail today, ready to face the United States commissioner expected to order him returned immediately to Atlanta Federal prison.

The disfigured jaw was a reminder of Chapman's battle with detectives at Muncie, Ind., on Sunday when he was overpowered and arrested after attempting to shoot Detectives Harry Brown and Marvin Collins. Later, the detectives and Postal Inspector A. S. Kelley took the fugitive to Marion county jail.

Chapman's arrest ended a nationwide search. He escaped in 1923 while serving a 25 year sentence for completely in a $2,000,000 New York city mail robbery. The notorious bandit also faced a murder charge in connection with the slaying of a Mount Vernon N. Y. patrolman, on December 26, 1924. Rewards for his capture totaled $4,000.

Clinging to the cell bars with vengeance in his heart for the "pal who turned me up," Chapman today refused to discuss the patrolman's slaying. He was to be grilled later regarding numerous other "jobs" attributed to him. Federal authorities also said they were eager to learn where Chapman sought cover from the time of his escape.

Chapman was bitter toward the "buddy" who "peached." "Blood money, that's what it was," he swore. He then cursed the man who "tipped off" Muncie police. Authorities withheld the informer's name.

When arrested Chapman carried a satchel containing a large quantity of nitro glycerin and jewelry. He also had more than $4,000 in cash.

Miners Ignore Strike Call

General Walkout of 60,000 Pennsylvania Coal Miners Unlikely Despite Orders of Grievance Committee.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 19.—Efforts to call a general walkout of the 60,000 miners in district number one Wednesday afternoon will only be partly successful since orders of the grievance committee will be ignored by many of the local unions, according to a survey here today.

Leaders of the faction now favoring the walkout in sympathy with the ousted 12,000 Pittston men admit that many collieries, especially those in the Lackawanna region, will operate. In the Wyoming Valley field, they expect that the proposed tie up, if called, will be completely effective with possibly four or five exceptions. They are confident that they can control at least 50,000 of the mine workers in the district.

Meetings to determine the sentiment among the miners were to be held here today and tomorrow. At that time, delegates will be instructed for the session which will decide the future of the district.

A special committee meeting has been arranged for this city tonight when steps will be taken to safeguard union funds and also to outline a program to stop the action of the district officials.

Four Children Burn to Death

Waterbury, Conn., Jan. 19.—With four children, ranging from two to seven years old, dead, officials were endeavoring today to learn why fire swept their bedroom a few minutes after their mother put them to bed and while their parents sat in a room beneath, ignorant of the fact their house was burning over their heads. The dead were two sons and two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Loomis of Middlebury, a suburb.

Half an hour after Mrs. Loomis put the children to bed a neighbor rushed into the house giving the alarm. Mr. and Mrs. Loomis attempted to climb the stairs to the bedroom but were driven back by smoke and heat.

Hurt in Jumping When Team Ran

Mrs. Annie Van Leuven Believed Team Would Dash Through Gates at Broadway Railroad Crossing, and Jumped From Sleigh.

Becoming frightened when the team of sorrel horses of Major James H. Everett became startled Saturday afternoon about 3 o'clock on Broadway, near the West Shore crossing, Mrs. Annie Van Leuven of 365 Wall street, who was seated in the sleigh, jumped out near the United States Hotel property, landing on her head on the icy brick roadway and receiving a severe cut on her forehead and suffering from shock.

Mrs. Van Leuven was picked up by Policeman Healey and a young man named Boss and carried into the tailoring shop of C. Smith where Dr. Leonard K. Stelle gave first aid. Later she was taken home and given surgical and physical attention. The driver of the team, Harry Kline, had left the horses standing at the side of the road with Mrs. Van Leuven in the sleigh, to leave a parcel at a store. While he was gone some slush was thrown by a passing automobile against the side of one of the team, causing him to start up with a dash toward the West Shore railroad crossing. A freight train was moving over the crossing and the gates were down, and Mrs. Van Leuven, fearing the team would run through the gates, jumped out of the sleigh.

The team continued across the tracks, as the train had passed and gates raised, and the horses were stopped when a man on a trolley car stuck out his arm in front of them. By that time they were going very fast. Officers Healey and Camp then came up and took the team back and turned them over to Kline, the driver. Mr. Boss accompanied Mrs. Van Leuven to her home. The team is a valuable one and though spirited animals, were not runaways, having been driven nearly every day until very recently by Major Everett, their owner, who is nearly 88 years of age.

Poughkeepsie Is Visited by Fires

Five Fires Broke Out in Bridge City Sunday—$5,000 Damage to Masonic Temple—Other Fires.

Fire of undetermined origin, starting in the basement of the Masonic Temple at Poughkeepsie Sunday night, ate its way through the three floors at the front of the building, doing damage estimated at $5,000. When the firemen arrived the fire had gained headway and it was necessary to cut off a considerable part of the floor and walls. Good work on the part of the Poughkeepsie firemen confined the fire to the front part of the building.

The chief damage was to the building itself, the walls suffering greatly from water. Furniture and uniforms of the order were also destroyed.

Two other fires broke out in Poughkeepsie Sunday when a ladder factory and garage burned simultaneously. The garage and automobile of Harry Moxon was destroyed Sunday morning and at the same time the two story frame building of the Simpson ladder factory was on fire. The damage at the ladder factory was estimated at $500.

There was also slight fire in a residence at Poughkeepsie Sunday afternoon and at a tailor shop.

Foil Plot to Blow Up Battleships

At Least One British Battleship Designated for Attack, According to Police, Who Make Six Arrests.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Jan. 19.—A plot to blow up a British battleship at Portsmouth, England's chief naval base, was alleged today by police in the arrest of five men and one woman.

Two of the men in custody are said to have been naval ranking. The other three are reported to be Irish Republicans.

The arrests culminated from reports that government naval secrets were leaking at Portsmouth. Police for some time have been, it was said, intercepting letters passing between reputed Irish Republicans and residents of London and Portsmouth.

Twenty-four police officers took part in the raids which netted the six persons. The raids covered a large area of London as well as Portsmouth. Scotland Yard detectives were summoned to question the suspects.

The Evening News today said that the alleged plot contemplated the blowing up of several English warships. The two men detained are petty officers, it said. The News declared that Irish extremists were responsible for the alleged plot and that their hope was to provoke trouble between England and the Irish Free State.

The woman under arrest was mentioned in several letters, according to the police.

An official statement issued by Scotland Yard said that six arrests had been made under the "official secrets act." The statement said that those under arrests were connected with the Irish Republican organization.

Among the large number of churches that are now carrying forward elaborate programs of building expansion and improvement, one of the most notable in St. Mary's Church of this city, whose extensive work is now nearing completion.

The magnificent group of religious buildings of St. Mary's parish will be complete when the work on the Sisters' Home, opposite the church edifice, which is now being constructed, is ended; and these buildings mark not only the possibility of accomplishment by a congregation but also indicate the revived religious interest which ecclesiastics throughout the United States have commented upon within the past few years, and which has given many visible evidences of its existence in Kingston city and Ulster county during that period.

Congregation's Devotion.

The devotion which the congregation of St. Mary's Church has displayed in attaining their desires for suitable buildings in which to house the religious activities of the parish and those who conduct them is best demonstrated by the figures contained in the financial report of the church which was submitted to the congregation at the Sunday services. The report covers the fiscal year from January 1, 1924, to December 31, 1924, both inclusive, and shows that there was expended during that period for property improvement, and repairs, charitable collections, parish accounts, new rectory, church renovations, Cemetery Improvement Association, Insurance, taxes, fuel, light and all other expenses, the sum of $147,772.34, and the balance on hand on December 31, 1924, was $817.66.

Collections For Year, $76,000.97.
Of the total amount expended $32,738.32 was transferred from the reserve fund in existence at the beginning of the year, such fund having been raised for the improvements which have been completed or which are now under way, and the total collections during the year 1924 were $76,000.97, including both parish and charitable collections. During the year the church borrowed the sum of $35,000 to carry on its work.

Property Valuation $490,000.

The report shows that the valuation of all the church property is $490,000.

The parish has just passed its diamond jubilee year, starting obscurely from its first meeting in 1855, and has now grown through successive pastorates to one of the important and progressive parishes of the entire Hudson river valley. Through the seventy-five years of its existence the gradual accumulation of property and the improvement and expansion of its buildings has continued until now under the leadership of the Rev. Joseph B. Scully, P. R. It has a large and stable congregation and a group of completely new and modern structures to house its activities.

Improvements of Past Years.

The original church building was a brick structure erected in 1855 during the pastorate of the Rev. Miles Maxwell, and dedicated July 5, 1855. Under succeeding pastors, the building was redecorated, a new organ built, and the present marble altar installed, as well as arrangements made for purchase of the old rectory property and ground upon which the present new school has been erected. Later, under Father Hickey, the church building was repainted and redecorated throughout.

On his advent to the pastorate Father Scully found the church building in a state of complete ruin, with a tower surmounted by a typical Gothic steeple in the center of the facade, a familiar landmark to Kingstonians. The structure measured about 60 feet in width and 100 feet in depth, its bell tower rising to 110 feet, the entire church housing approximately a thousand persons.

The Present Church Building.

In the carrying forward of the much needed program of expansion it was felt that the present structure should be altered to fit its position in the completed architectural scheme and to repair the marks of age and abandonment. To this end, the architect, Edward F. Penning, of New York, conceived the entire building with a new facing of brick and stone, in the style of the English Gothic. A new stone doorway with rounded archway and oak and leaded glass doors lead to the nave in the center of the church, over which was built a large Gothic tower with steep leads, and 81 feet high with memorial stained glass windows. Above was installed a new clock face to replace the former old clock.

WIRELESS BETWEEN MINDS

Telepathy, thought transference without the spoken word, a kind of wireless communication from mind to mind, if you please, has been discussed for many years, but not quite accepted as a fact by scientific observers. Yet the continuing experiments show both interest and expectation. In regard to some recent ones in England, in which he participated, Lord Balfour, says they "conclusively prove that there is a wholly unknown, unexplained, unaccounted method of traversing space between two self-conscious organisms in a manner on which no theory of sound or electricity or any theory in which we have the dimmest notion can at the moment throw any light." When one of these experiments was staged Lord Balfour and his associates chose the unlikely subject of "Diana walking in the rain," from Meredith's novel, "Diana of the Crossways," and when Prof. Gilbert Murray came into the room he promptly said: "It is a book. Oh, it is Meredith. It is Diana walking in the rain." They then pitched upon the equally unlikely subject of Sir Robert Walpole talking Latin with George III, and when Prof. Murray was brought in he said: "Something eighteenth century. Wait, I have nearly got it—somebody talking Latin to a king."

Prof. J. S. Haldane attributed Murray's remarkable performance to the transmission of sound waves, the subjects chosen having been announced in spoken words. But that would not explain the seeming communion of minds at a given moment without spoken words and too far apart for the transmission of sound waves, examples of which have been ascertained. One is reminded that there are "more things in heaven and earth" than we dream of, which has been abundantly shown by developments since Shakespeare wrote the sage reflection:

THE MOCKING BIRD.

That the mocking bird is our greatest feathered songster is beyond question, although there are unappreciative persons who think that he is too self-assured and "makes too much noise." But why a tribute to the mocking bird by Representative Rankin of Mississippi should have gone into the Congressional Record as an "extension of remarks of Hon. F. G. Lanham of Texas in the House of Representatives" may be described as a pertinent question unlikely to receive a satisfactory answer. What has Congress to do with mocking birds or other feathered creatures, unless protective legislation is called for? However, the mocking bird deserves Mr. Rankin's tribute, and his poetical flight is not unworthy of print. It reads:

The Caruso of field and forest, the Mozart of wild music, the grand opera of nature, he seems to embrace within his boundless repertoire the songs of all the birds that have ever lived and those that are yet to come. We dignify as a national emblem the American eagle that soars and shrieks his screams of defiance from the seclusion of the crags, we perpetuate in verse and story the imaginary song of the mythical dying swan; we praise the inferior songs of other birds, but, in my humble judgment, there is none that deserves more praise, credit or commendation at the hand of enlightened humanity than the peerless mocking bird, America's sweetest singer, who entwines the spirit of springtime with his wireless serenade, and thrills every heart with his inspiring note of gladness as he teaches the golden harp of nature's sweetest song and "sings with joy and hope the languid souls of listening men."

"The United States World War Army" is a new organization of soldier veterans composed of those who suffered major amputations and now lack some bodily member. Said to say, the objectives are only too many. The movement aim of the "Army" is not to seek public sympathy and aid but to foster among themselves a special fellowship for "the ex-soldier, protection and assistance of those who have suffered irreparable disability" in the discharge of their duty in war.

The American can understand American Chamberlain's indifference to titles and pride in his nonconformist ancestry much better than the great Englishman Joseph Chamberlain.

John Austin's father, proudly boasted that he could claim descent "from one of the 200 ejected ministers who, in the time of the Stuarts, left home and work and profit rather than accept the State-made creed which it was sought to force upon them."

A NEW WORD.

A new word crept into the language of the physician a few years ago, and it is now used almost as frequently as the word appendicitis. I refer to the word "sinusitis," which as "itis" always means "inflammation of" therefore signifies an inflammation of a sinus.

Now you might ask "What is a sinus?" In this sense?

A sinus is a cavity opening up into the bone, the interior of which is bigger than the entrance.

I like to think of it as like the caves that we read about as youngsters where the entrance was just large enough for a man to crawl through, but the interior of which expanded into an immense room or gallery.

Now why is the sinus important these days?

Because any cold, catarrh, influenza, bronchitis, pneumonia, or similar condition may inflame the entire mucous membrane of the nose.

Now these sinuses adjoin, and really connect with the inside of the nose.

What really happens?

The inflammation of the nose irritates the lining or mucous membrane and as you know a great amount of liquid more or less thick, is manufactured and discharged from the nostrils.

Now you can readily see that a cold, an irritation of any kind that inflames the nose, can pass right along into the sinuses. It may pass into the sinus at the side of the nose in cheek, and cause irritation, pain and an increase in fluid in this sinus.

Or it may pass into the sinus above, over either eye, and set up trouble there.

Now why do these inflammations in the sinuses persist, long after the inflammation of the nose itself has cleared up?

Simply because of the narrow entrance which prevents the manufactured fluid from coming down into the nose. If it be a little too thick then it cannot drain away, and the trouble continues for a considerable time.

Where the inflammation is severe, and is manufacturing such a thick fluid—pus—that it cannot get away, then the nose surgeon opens up the entrance by breaking through some of the body cells, and thus establishes a drainage.

With the cheek sinus sometimes a tooth is extracted, and a drainage made down through the mouth.

What does this drainage do?

By clearing away waste or poisonous matter from these cavities, it prevents a sort of "nesting" place for those organisms which cause grippe, joint inflammations, and so forth.

THE WEEK AT RONDOUT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Rev. Dr. William R. King, secretary of the national board of missions of the Presbyterian Church, gave an interesting address on the work of the church in the United States at the morning service in the Rondout Presbyterian Church on Sunday.

The usual Thursday evening service will be in charge of an elder who can not go to the Highland conference. At the close of the service the Ladies' Aid Society will hold an important meeting.

Plans are developing for the church family suppers and study hours to be held in the chapel.

Portia's father was old-fashioned

IN THE days of Shakespeare's famous heroine, buying and selling were contests of wits. In Venice, haggling and dickering were the vogue. Along the Rialto, sharp practice was the rule. Every purchase of silk or spices was made at the buyer's risk. One had to be a shrewd judge of values and one's fellows to escape trickery.

Portia's father—a merchant—was used to the ideas of guess, luck and accident. So much so, indeed, that it seemed natural to him to entrust the choice of his daughter's husband to three closed caskets and a lucky guess!

Nowadays, we do not transact business blindly—nor leave important decisions to chance. It is not necessary for us to gamble when we buy. Commodities are identified for us by trade-marks. Manufacturers go to the advertising columns to tell us about their products. Merchants describe their merchandise—price, quality and service.

By reading advertisements, we get a knowledge of goods and stores that we can depend on. Advertising reduces chance, in buying, to a minimum.

CLEAN YOUR CAR WITH DUCCO

It Will Actually Improve The New DUCCO Finish

Far from hurting Duco Finish, the new DUCCO actually improves its lustre. With a sponge and water, or even with a dry cloth, you can remove the mud and polish up the surface of Duco Finish at the same time!

Duco is made by the Du Pont Company. We have tested and confirmed every claim made for it. It is an epoch-making discovery, and the only radical improvement ever made in motor car finishes.

Neither sun nor engine heat can blister Duco, grime won't corrode it, rain, snow and hot water won't streak it, and it is so hard that it is difficult to scratch. Even bumps can hardly affect it!

With Duco on your car you can laugh at weather and wear. Its beautiful lustre and smooth surface will actually improve with use. Come to our shop and see jobs we have refinished with Duco. You'll want this new finish on your car. It can be put on in one-third to one-half the usual time.

Shandaken Tunnel Made New Record

Records in Engineering and Contracting Operations of More Than Ordinary Magnitude Toppled by Completion of Longest Tunnel in World.

The year 1924 was a period of unusual achievement for explosives engineers. Engineering and contracting operations of more than ordinary magnitude, which depended for speed on the use of explosives, were either begun or finished.

The Shandaken tunnel, part of the water supply system of New York city, was completed early in the year. This is the longest tunnel in the world, being 18.2 miles in length. Records were made in rapid drilling with modern high explosives.

The Moffat tunnel in Colorado, which will pierce the Continental Divide, and be the largest railway tunnel in the western hemisphere, has been started. What is known as gelatin dynamite is being used in this tunnel. This explosive develops great efficiency in tunneling through hard rock and by means of recent improvements its fumes have been reduced to a minimum, so that work underground can now be done with greater comfort and more speed than formerly.

Some of the greatest water power projects ever undertaken whose speed in accomplishment depends on explosives, are now under way. A few miles east of Burgin, Kentucky, the highest rock-filled dam in the world is being built for the hydro-electric development of the Dix river. Explosives experts recently "planted" one of the steep cliffs alongside the river with dynamite and threw out great quantities of rock into the river, thus creating a large fall for the dam at once and also loosening great quantities of other rock, which was easily moved out into the site. This was an unusual and difficult operation.

The tunnel fifteen feet square, through thirteen and one-half miles of solid rock, to tap a lake 7,300 feet above sea level, is being built by the Southern California Edison Company. The purpose of this work is to harness the lakes of the Sierras.

Great progress through the use of explosives has taken place in New York harbor, where the East river is being widened and deepened and the dangerous rocks at Hell Gate blasted out. All this submarine blasting work is being done with gelatin dynamite, the development and improvement of which has made possible the most efficient kind of harbor betterment.

The longest ditch blasting operation ever undertaken took place recently in Louisiana, where national and state health officers engaged in an anti-malaria, anti-mosquito campaign wished to build a ditch through a heavy swamp. The right of way was encumbered with stumps, logs, roots and other debris. An explosives expert established a world's record by blasting 1,200 feet of ditch in one shot, taking away logs, stumps and other obstacles at the same time.

Other features which have marked the year's progress with explosives have been the continued work in draining the Everglades in Florida through the aid of explosives; the building of good roads, and the extension of the use of explosives for ditch blasting on farms, for planting trees and for orchard rejuvenation.

AN OMNIBUS CARRIES PASSENGERS FOR HIRE

Vehicle Rented With or Without Driver Must Be Licensed as Such.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Albany, January 19.—Any motor vehicle used for the purpose of carrying passengers for hire, whether rented with or without a driver, is an omnibus and must be licensed as such, according to a recent opinion written by the attorney general for the guidance of the State Motor Vehicle Bureau. The opinion was written to clear up a false impression among persons engaged in the business of furnishing to patrons what is known in automobile circles as private rental cars, with or without a driver, bearing the same licenses that are issued to and used lawfully on cars confined to private use. The use of these licenses on any motor vehicle carrying revenue by carrying passengers for hire is a distinct violation of the law, according to the attorney general.

The fact that a car may bear a set of the special omnibus licenses issued by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles does not change its status as an omnibus. These licenses resemble those carried on cars that are not used for carrying passengers for hire, in that there is no prefix "O" to the left of the numerals and an additional fee of $10 is charged for the issuance of same. All such vehicles, in fact all vehicles used for passenger rental purposes, are subject to the same bonding and other provisions of the law as are imposed upon the vehicle bearing regular omnibus license plates.

Owners of motor vehicles rented and used for strictly commercial purposes, that is the transportation of goods or merchandise and not passengers, should not construe the above opinion as applying to such vehicles. These vehicles should bear commercial licenses, according to a recent announcement by the commission of motor vehicles at Albany.

RIBBON COQUETRIES.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

There have been times when ribbon was almost non-existent—from the fashion viewpoint. One never saw a bow or had any reasonable excuse to add ribbon to anything one wore. But now! There are bows instead of buckles on many a slipper, or rosettes of ribbon and bows and bands on hats, and dozens of ways to introduce ribbon frocks and even coats.

Flowers of black more garish than model.

Wide velvet furrow tured seal on Debutantes frock

Porcelain + Cie place large coral bow on black lace gown

There are ribbon-made flowers not only for Musterole, but for the decoration of dresses and huge ruffles of ribbon which serve as a collar for the evening gown. No less a designer than Callot has added a ribbon bow to a strongly contrasting color to the dress of a frock which seems complete without it. One of the charms of the whole situation is really that it is so constantly varying and surprising.

The all-ribbon hat is not new, but there are always new ways of making one, and there are new ribbons, some with gold or silver contrasting borders and some with their two sides seemingly unrelated.

The all-black frock is the better for a bright bow, providing it is large enough and well made and placed—for a black frock, to be really chic, must have some color about it these evenings.

DISPLAYING NEW MODELS OF CHEVROLET CARS

Sutliff, Inc., local distributors for the Chevrolet motor cars have received several of the new models which was recently announced by Chevrolet. In the 1925 cars are several improvements which go toward easier riding and easier operation of the car. Perhaps the most noticeable improvement to the operation of the car is a new type dry plate disc clutch composed of a single plate and requiring no oil. Light in weight the clutch is smooth acting at all speeds and a change from high to second at 20 miles or more an hour is possible.

As a demonstration of the clutch action Mr. Sutliff driving at 20 miles an hour in high threw the car in reverse, spinning the rear wheels and then back again in high without the car coming to a stop. From second to low at 15 miles an hour is also possible without the clashing of gears.

In addition to the improved clutch the springs have been changed to semi-elliptic covering 85 per cent of the wheel base of the car. This gives easy riding over rough roads. The seats have been tilted back to give additional comfort and the body has been lengthened three inches which is divided between the front and rear compartments so as to give additional leg room.

Steering has been made easier by improved design. A heavier crankshaft gives more strength, pep and power to the motor which remains the same size as formerly. The car-burner has been raised 12 inches giving easier starting and better acceleration through the intake manifold being reduced that length.

The dash has been improved. Park lights have been added and the three way switch provides for dim and bright headlights. The instrument board is newer and more conveniently arranged. Rust resisting steel is used in the radiator shell giving the same nifty appearance as a nickel but with out the necessity for frequent polishing.

To care for the heavier crankshaft the bearings have been made larger, reducing vibration and giving longer life.

All bodies are finished with Duesenbach which needs no painting. By wiping off the surface with a cloth a clean seat car is produced. On all equipped cars bottom trim are standard equipment.

Three of the new models were driven from the factory on Friday and are on display at the show room on Maiden Lane at Albany avenue as well as a chassis.

Apply for Trout Before Feb. 1

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Albany, Jan. 19.—On February 1, the time limit set by the Conservation Commission for the reception of applications for the various kinds of trout will expire. In order that sportsmen and others interested in the replenishment of the public waters of the state may be practically sure of receiving a supply of fish for the present year, it is essential that applications be filed with the Commission before that date. Applications for trout received after that date are given attention at times because of a surplus of trout at the hatcheries of the Commission; but to insure attention during the coming season of delivery, these applications should be received prior to February 1.

The applications for muskellunge, pike perch, yellow perch and black bass must be made before March 1, for the same reasons that apply to the trout applications.

The Commission does not distribute pickerel or great northern pike.

one. The bell tower is expressed with double pointed arched windows and the steeple repaired, decorated and retained in its present old position. Side entrance doors of stone with arched heads open to the side of the nave.

To the rear of the structure, a new sacristy for the priests and the altar boys was projected into the yard toward the new rectory building with an architectural treatment of similar character.

In the remodeling of the interior, the present nave and piers have been sheathed with new molded wood columns, with Gothic capitals and bases, and the entire church floor has been replaced with new floors and under supports. The sanctuary has been completely remodeled with a very beautiful new tiled floor, marble steps and elevations, new altar rail of marble and wrought iron, and new carved wainscot of oak built between the nave walls and altars. An entire new lighting system has been installed.

English Gothic Architecture. The new rectory building, just completed, the first of the group to be built, comprises three floors and includes office, waiting room, dining room, kitchen and servants' rooms on the first floor; pastor's study, bedroom, community room and bedrooms with baths in the second; while the third floor contains additional bedrooms for curate. In architectural treatment, the building is an adaptation of English Gothic in the same brick as that used for the church, with limestone trim for the windows. The structure is roofed with heavy "Tudor" slate. Upon completion of the rectory, the old building which had served this purpose was demolished to make way for the new building to house the Sisters of Charity who conduct St. Mary's Academy.

The structure which is now nearing completion, contains community room, reception room, dining room, kitchen and laundry with lockers for the Sisters on the first floor; chapel, sacristy, Mother Superior's room, office and dormitory on the second floor, while the third floor is given over to general dormitory space. On the rear of the structure, there will be two stories

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON SAVING AND INVESTING

Aunt Emmy and Maud were talking about saving money.

"What does a savings bank do with the money people put in it, Aunt Emmy?" inquired Maud.

"It is invested in sound mortgages, perhaps, or government and corporate securities. You see, the men who run savings banks are trained financiers. They know what securities are good and what are questionable, so they invest the bank's funds—that is, the money they receive from their depositors—in the best securities in such a way that they will be able to pay you interest on your deposits and be able to return your money to you when you want it. In order to do that they must invest in securities that pay a higher rate of interest than they give you to cover the bank expenses and set aside a surplus against emergencies."

"But, Auntie, if the banks invest our money, why can't we invest it ourselves?"

"We could if we knew as much about investments as the bank does. Bankers are not likely to make the mistakes made by the ordinary person. They are not deceived by impressive looking stock certificates, plausible letters from brokers or charming voices over the telephone urging them to buy this or that. Your banker is a hard-headed business man who investigates thoroughly before he invests the bank's money. For this reason many conservative persons prefer to keep their savings in a savings bank, knowing that their money is in wise hands and that even though the rate of interest they get may be moderate their money is far safer than it would be if it were invested less skillfully."

"Surely, though, it must be possible to get more than 4 per cent on your money and yet be safe," Maud said.

"It is under certain conditions," Aunt Emmy agreed. "The trouble is that so few people are frank about their money matters with men who really can be trusted for advice. They would rather take the advice of a slick stock salesman. No matter how small a sum a person is thinking of investing, advice should be sought from a trust company or bank. Women especially don't seem to realize this."

"The savings bank is always safe. It is a good plan to keep putting money in the savings bank until you have a good sum. Then withdraw part and invest it in some security paying a higher rate of interest. But be sure to seek good advice before you buy. In this way you can always have some cash on hand in the bank, yet gradually convert most of your savings into high grade securities."—AUNT E. MYMES.

THE BURDEN OF GOVERNMENT

The financial burden of government has become increasingly heavy in recent years. It has, at times, reached the point of oppression. The Federal tax of 1920 aggregated more than five and one-half billion dollars. This year, after strenuous efforts to reduce the wartime peak, the total still exceeds three billion dollars—a sum far greater than the entire burden of funded debt accumulated as a result of the Civil War. State and local taxes have increased at an even greater rate. Taxation has become more than a problem; it is a threat of impending disaster.

Nor is the burden of government limited to taxation. We are oppressed by a multiplicity of restrictive laws and administrative regulations. It is estimated that there are over two million laws and ordinances in the records of nation, states and municipalities. One adult person out of every twenty engaged in business, or industry is a government official, agent or employee.

In the face of this record, despite the general recognition of the overwhelming burden of government, we find ourselves constantly waging a defensive battle against plans and programs which would transfer still greater duties to government, which would hamper individual initiative still further, which will—let us put it bluntly—crush individual ambition and destroy individual opportunity.

Under these circumstances it is our right—it is our duty—to affirm and defend sound principles of political faith as we have, on other occasions, supported sound principles of economic progress. The Constitution of the United States has stood for 135 years as the bulwark of our individual and our collective liberties. The Constitution has been and is now the greatest existing restraint upon arrogant majority. It has been and is now the greatest existing defense of the very minorities which, at this time, are being led to denounce its restrictions.

One of our greatest needs is to repel the attacks now being made upon the integrity of this charter of our freedom. We should—no matter how vigorously all efforts to give Congress the power to override decisions of the Supreme Court—and thereby destroy the division of governmental power which is the inherent strength of our constitutional system.—Walter W. Head, American Bankers Association

TO BAIL BLACK CURRANTS.

In Fight to Suppress the White Pine Blister Rust.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Albany, Jan. 15.—A further tightening up of the control of the white pine blister rust, one of the most dangerous diseases to white pine, is provided for in a bill introduced by Assemblyman Walter L. Pratt, Chairman of the Conservation Committee, to prohibit the growing of black currants anywhere in the state.

Blister rust is spread through currants and gooseberry bushes growing in the vicinity of white pine trees, and cannot spread from tree to tree. There are several species of which are far more susceptible to the propagation of blister rust than others. One of the most susceptible species is what is known as the black currant. The value of the fruit of the black currant is very small and the American Nursery and Ornamental Plant Association has adopted a resolution advising to discontinue the production of black currants in their nurseries so that the bill in line with the policy of the Nursery and Ornamental Plant Association and will remove one of the most dangerous varieties from cultivation in this state.

RESINOL

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Cremoal, an emulsified croton oil that is pleasant to take. Cremoal is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, croton is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Cremoal contains, in addition to croton, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the croton goes to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Cremoal is guaranteed satisfactory in treatment of chronic coughs and colds, asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is best for building up the system after the flu. Money refunded if any cold or cough, no matter how long standing, not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Cremoal Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Expect Nurmi To Race Ritola

In 10,000 Metre Race at New York
Track Next Month—Nurmi's Ability at Long Distance Unknown.
(By Davis J. Walsh.)
By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Jan. 19.—Barring the use of a first class horse, the only possible way to give Paavo Nurmi a beating was uncovered today with a dash from Willie Ritola for a meeting at 10,000 metres, which happens to be Ritola's distance to the literal fraction of an inch.
The latter, it seems, aired his views on the subject following his notable effort in breaking the world's record for five miles on Saturday night and the immediate reaction of officials of the Finnish American A.
C. was to open immediate negotiations for the big race. It is almost certain to take place on a local track some time next month.
"I don't want to take anything away from Nurmi's wonderful performance since coming to this country," Ritola said in effect.
"But I must point out that I have been given none the best of it in meeting him in comparatively short races. I know I didn't have a chance when I went to the mark with him at 3,000 metres at the Municipal games. The distance is far too short for me because I lack Nurmi's speed. Unless he is off form which he never seems to be,
I haven't much of a look in with him at 5,000 metres, either. Double that distance, however, and I think I will be able to give Nurmi all the running he wants."
This is no idle feat. It is the one distance on the list at which Nurmi has yet to convince the doubters that he stands supreme to all others.
Previous to July 6, 1924, he held the world's record of 30:40 1-5 for the distance but on the date mentioned Ritola stepped out and won the 10,000 metre race at the Olympic games by all of 300 yards, better Nurmi's mark by a round of twelve seconds, which is quite a few.

Expect Sell Out
For Game Here
Wednesday Night

Wednesday evening's game at the local armory court to be staged between the Original Celtics and the Kingston quintet promises to be the largest attended game since the Shamrock Warriors made their first appearance here a number of seasons ago. The amount of requests for seats already promises a sell out.
Seats are not only sought by local supporters but by fans throughout the Hudson Valley. The game is being called "The Battle of a Century," by newspapers all over the state, which announcement is expected to bring a large number of enthusiasts of the court game from distant places.
The contest, the fifth and deciding game of the current series, is a very important affair for a number of angles, acute and otherwise. The alleged Irish team (traveling throughout the country as the World's Champions of Professional basketball) to hold claim to this title there is necessary to do one thing, and that is to beat Kingston Wednesday.
The Celtics can beat Kingston as they have proved in two struggles.
Kingston can beat the Celtics as they have proved in two struggles. The two wins for the Kingston team happened on the local court. Further mention of the expected tough affair Wednesday is not necessary.
Manager Furey will not save railroad fares in keeping any of the players away from this game, but just who he will send in to start the game is not known and won't be until the evening of the battle. The same can be said about Morgenweck.
His line-up will be known when the whistle sounds, starting the game.

ANNIVERSARY OF EDGAR ALLEN POE.

Admirers of Edgar Allen Poe will celebrate today the 116th anniversary of the beloved poet and story-teller, and hundreds of pilgrims will visit the numerous buildings and spots in Baltimore and New York, connected with the brief, but glorious career of Maryland's brilliant son. When Poe was buried in Baltimore over seventy years ago, not a bell tolled for him (he, who wrote that wonderful poem "The Bells"), and only a few devoted friends followed the monumental city's most gifted citizen to his eternal rest. Today a magnificent monument marks his grave, and it will be covered with flowers on this anniversary. Many old edifices in Baltimore where Poe lived and wrote and joyed and sorrowed are now shrines on which awed pilgrims gaze with tear-dimmed eyes.

SAINT THERESA.

St. Theresa was born at Avila, in Spain, in 1515. While reading the lives of the saints, while very young, she became possessed with a desire for martyrdom, and ran away from her parents, hoping to be taken by the Moors. She was, however, discovered, and obliged to return, when she persuaded her father to build her a hermitage in his garden, where she might devote herself to her religious duties. In 1537 Theresa took the veil at the convent of the Carmelites, at Avila, where her religious zeal led her to undertake the restoration of the original severity of the order. In pursuance of this object, in 1562, she founded a convent of reformed Carmelite nuns at Avila, and in 1568 a monastery of friars, or barefooted Carmelites, at Dorville. She died at Avila, October, 1582, before her death there were thirty convents founded by her followers. She was canonized by Pope Gregory XV. She left an autobiography and several other works.
St. Theresa is the saint alluded to by James in his "Varieties of Religious Experience" as an "able-minded woman."

Sunday School

St. James Five beat Clinton Avenue in Close Game—Fox of Redeemer Team Scored 30 Points — The Scores.

Saturday evening four of the Y. M.
C. A. Sunday School League games were played off. The best game of the evening was that played between the St. James M. E. quintet and the Clinton Avenue M. E. five, the Saints winning by a 18 to 17 tally.

The other three games were very much one sided. In spite of this there was some fine basketball exhibited by all the teams. Fox of the Church of Redeemer team was high scorer of the evening. This slick forward scored 30 points against the Salva-
